

Look At Me!

Here's a quick multiple-choice test.

When talking to someone, you should:

- a) look over his shoulder to see if there is anyone else you could talk to approaching your direction, like the hot new person in accounting
- b) stare at the red spot on her chin and wonder if you should recommend a good dermatologist
- c) make eye contact
- d) look at your shoes and hope he gets the hint to stop talking to you
- e) stare at her chest and guess her bra size

If you chose anything but option C, you are now allowed only to converse with other people via email.

For more notification cards, visit TBS.com

Look At Me!

Here's a quick multiple-choice test.

When talking to someone, you should:

- a) look over his shoulder to see if there is anyone else you could talk to approaching your direction, like the hot new person in accounting
- b) stare at the red spot on her chin and wonder if you should recommend a good dermatologist
- c) make eye contact
- d) look at your shoes and hope he gets the hint to stop talking to you
- e) stare at her chest and guess her bra size

If you chose anything but option C, you are now allowed only to converse with other people via email.

For more notification cards, visit TBS.com

Look At Me!

Here's a quick multiple-choice test.

When talking to someone, you should:

- a) look over his shoulder to see if there is anyone else you could talk to approaching your direction, like the hot new person in accounting
- b) stare at the red spot on her chin and wonder if you should recommend a good dermatologist
- c) make eye contact
- d) look at your shoes and hope he gets the hint to stop talking to you
- e) stare at her chest and guess her bra size

If you chose anything but option C, you are now allowed only to converse with other people via email.

For more notification cards, visit TBS.com

Look At Me!

Here's a quick multiple-choice test.

When talking to someone, you should:

- a) look over his shoulder to see if there is anyone else you could talk to approaching your direction, like the hot new person in accounting
- b) stare at the red spot on her chin and wonder if you should recommend a good dermatologist
- c) make eye contact
- d) look at your shoes and hope he gets the hint to stop talking to you
- e) stare at her chest and guess her bra size

If you chose anything but option C, you are now allowed only to converse with other people via email.

For more notification cards, visit TBS.com